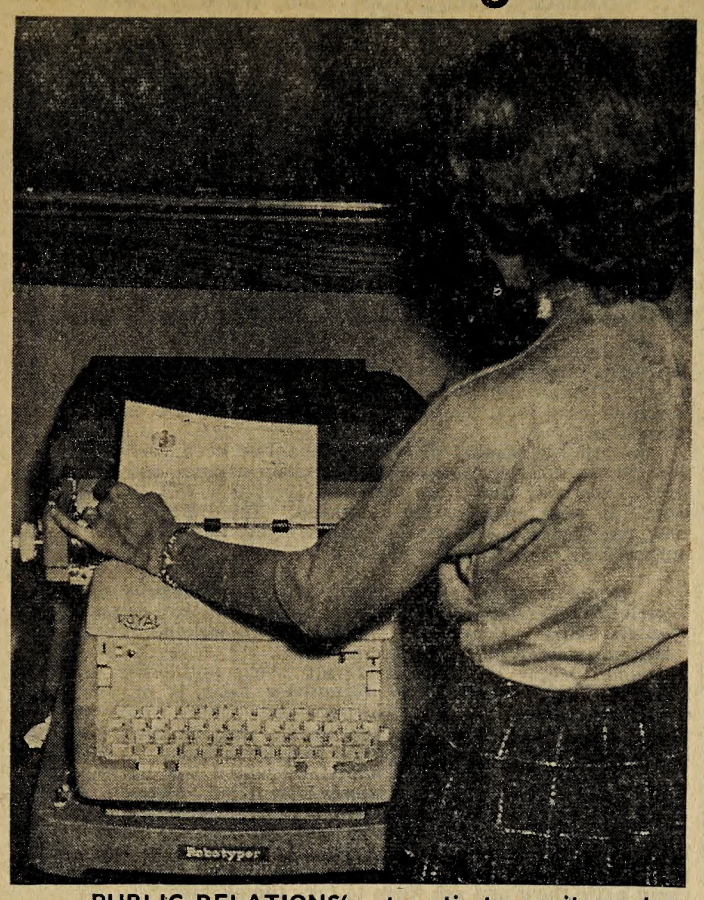
Automation Taking Over?



PUBLIC RELATIONS' automatic typewriter gets set to write another personalized letter with junior Lucille Bissell at the controls.

Think you're a speedy typist? Manage to make fingers, not time, fly at the keyboard?

Then don't risk hurting your pride by venturing into the Public Relations Office, for there lurks an automatic typewriter that whizzes along at more than one hundred words per minute.

The typewriter, which has been used on a trial basis since November, can write between 100 and 250 letters a day. Used mainly for student recruitment, the machine has produced about twenty-five hundred letters.

The advantage of an automatic typewriter, which costs between $1,500 and $2,500, is that it produces a personalized letter complete with individual names and specific comments. The college hopes to obtain an automatic typewriter next year, according to Norman Fintel, public relations director.

Any typist can operate the new machine. The automatic apparatus of the typewriter in the Public Relations Office resembles a piano roll for a player piano.

The perforated roll, which is made on another machine, a vacuum pump and a series of rods combine to press the keys on the typewriter itself. Maintenance of the typewriter portion of the machine has proved to be the greatest problem.

Kenton Gets Concert Nod

Brown Named Alternate; Drive Results Announced

Stan Kenton was picked as this year's choice for the student-sponsored popular concert. Les Brown and His Band of Renown was chosen as an alternate during balloting at Thursday's Student Body meeting.

The recommendations of the Popular Concert Committee were approved by the Student Senate Monday and sent to the Student Body meeting Thursday. Don Hamilton, pop concert chairman, announced that the committee was recommending the selection of the orchestra of Les Brown, Stan Kenton, or the George Shearing Quintet. Hamilton also stated that several vocal quartets had been considered for the concert but had been turned down because of the high prices.

Hamilton

Contract price for the Kenton group calls for $1,200; the Brown, $1,250. The price tag on Shearing read $1,100.

This year's concert has been scheduled for April 15, with ticket sales beginning one month previous to that date.

10 To Customer

He added that all tickets must be paid for at the time they are purchased and that a limit of 10 tickets to a person has been set.

Final results of the Campus Chest drive were also announced this week by Chairman John Solem. A total of $667 was collected by the solicitors, according to Solem.

The money will be divided as follows: $100 to the Student Memorial Fund, $173.10 to the program of the Lutheran Student Association of America, $144.25 to the Lutheran Children's Home of Waverly, $86.55 to the Bartels Home for the Aged of Waverly, $57.70 to the Cancer Fund, $57.10 to the American Korean Fund, and $57.10 to the CARE Package fund.

Senate Monday

Action in student government will resume again following semester tests with a Senate meeting scheduled for Jan. 20. Main business on the agenda at that time will be the discussion of this year's Student Body Project.

Also up for discussion will be recommendations to the Educational Policies Committee concerning dismissal time at future vacation periods. Larry Stumme, elections chairman, also announced that freshman elections for the second semester will be held during the week following exams.

Tested!

Although every effort has been made, Trumpet staffers have been unable to find any method for evading semester tests. So no paper next Saturday. First appearance of the Trumpet for the second semester will be Jan. 25.

All old staff members and anyone interested in working on the Trumpet for the coming semester are reminded of an important meeting Monday, Jan. 20, at 7:15 p.m. in the Pub House.

Registration Dates Set For Semester

The registration schedule for the coming semester has been set up as follows:

Monday—Seniors
Tuesday—Juniors
Wednesday—Sophomores
Thursday—Freshmen

Those unable to register on these days may do so on Friday. All new students will register Saturday morning. Students not returning for the second semester are asked to vacate their rooms by 6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 17.

Oppermann to Speak At Next Convocation

Dean of Students Earnest F. Oppermann will speak at convocation on Tuesday, Jan. 21. The subject of Dean Oppermann's address will be "The Wartburg Family."

The Rev. Arthur H. Braun, president of the Minnesota District of the American Lutheran Church, St. Paul, Minn., will address students and faculty at a convocation worship service on Thursday, Jan. 23.

Debaters Travel

Tuition Costs To Go Up; $40 Added To Expenses

Wartburg tuition will be raised $20 per semester next year, according to President C. H. Becker. The action was approved at the Board of Regents' meeting Nov. 19.

Said Dr. Becker, "Although tuition is increasing to $500 a year, it includes $50 in fees, which many schools charge in addition to tuition."

He also pointed out that since students receive either the American Lutheran Church Scholarship or the Bremer County Scholarship, both worth $50, actual yearly tuition cost will be $400.

Average costs at 35 colleges, most of which are located in the Midwest, will be $66.65 higher next year, according to a survey conducted by Simpson College, Indianola. Ten more schools interviewed in the survey are contemplating increases but have not set the amount. Increases range from $15 to $225.

Sophs May Get English Results

Any interested sophomores may see Dr. Edwin Sandberg, English Department, for the results of the reading program study conducted the first semester of last year.

Included in the reading program the diagnostic reading tests given at the beginning and end of the semester, vocabulary work, reading films and reading comprehension. A similar study is being conducted this year, and freshmen may obtain the results by the middle of the second semester.

Dr. Sandberg also announced that the Indian literature course being offered next semester will meet on Thursday from 3 to 5 p.m.

"Although only eight people may take the course for credit, anyone is welcome to audit the class," he added.

3 Completing Work At First Term End

Alvin Danielson, Don Smith and Maynard Weyers are the three candidates for graduation at the end of this semester. They will receive their degrees at the regular commencement exercises in the spring.

Weyers, Crab Orchard, Neb., will complete work toward a bachelor of arts degree with a major in sociology.

Another Nebraskan, Alvin Danielson, Kimball, will complete the secondary education course, majoring in math.

From Waverly, Don Smith will receive a bachelor of arts in business administration.

Tickets Comin'

Tickets for the Jan. 21 Artist Series, featuring Miss Betty Allen, mezzo-soprano, may be obtained at the treasurer's office Jan. 20 and 21 during regular office hours.

Engelbrecht Makes Ends Meet

By Joan Pape

You think you're busy!

Anyone who is complaining about the amount of work he has to do should take a trip to see Herb Engelbrecht, assistant to the president, business manager and, as he himself states, jack-of-all-trades.

Engelbrecht's title is assistant to the president, and in this capacity his duties are to help the president and to assume responsibility when he is out of town. But it is under the classification of business manager that most of Engelbrecht's work falls.

Most of the duties of a business manager fall in the field of planning and supervising the expenditure of money. For example, it is he who must plan the budget for each year — usually about 1¼ million dollars — by finding out the amounts needed by various departments and the amount available.

Buys, Sells, Signs

He also supervises all buying done at Wartburg by countersigning all of the orders as well as selling, renting, preparing the payroll, signing leases and, perhaps most time-consuming of all, working with the architects and contractors on all new buildings. Working on the planning of buildings also requires much supervision of funds, for at the beginning of the month the bills start coming in — as much as $3,000 worth a day.

To assume Engelbrecht's job would seem to be signing one's life away, for so much of his time is spent in signing various checks and orders. He must countersign all checks written at Wartburg with the treasurer, Miss Eldora Flugga.

"I estimate that from eight to ten thousand checks are written each year," he stated.

Counsels, Supervises Too

Besides his business duties, Engelbrecht serves as a counselor and supervisor in other fields. He counsels with students having financial difficulties and helps them secure scholarships, grants-in-aid or loans from churches.

He also finds time to be supervisor of "Christmas at Wartburg," serve on the Board of Regents and a number of committees, help in public relations, meet salesmen and students and — oh, yes — be in charge of the maintenance of Wartburg buildings!

Though many people might find so many duties confusing, Engelbrecht added, "I find my work interesting because it is so varied — though sometimes having so many loose ends is frustrating."

Workers Meeting On Campus Tues.

"Developing Cultural Arts and Recreation in Community Programs" will be discussed at the Northeast Iowa Community Workers Conference to be held on the Wartburg campus Tuesday.

The Rev. Robert Glaser, Wartburg Sociology Department, will head the afternoon session. Others from Wartburg assisting in the program are the Rev. August Baetke, Sociology Department; Herbert Engelbrecht, college business manager; and Dr. C. H. Becker, president.

State Of The Union? Mayer Says It's Poor

By Bob Mayer

The year 1958 ushered itself into anything but a pleasant or encouraging atmosphere. On both the national and international fronts, news bleakly clarified American shortsightedness and foretold a forbidding future.

Perhaps 1957 was a year of harsh enlightenment, baring once and for all time the brittleness of our clay idol in all its unreality. The loud crash clearly brought to surface the fundamental weaknesses of purpose and organization inherent in America. Throughout all the high-sounding cliches and ideals which marked our policy, there only echoed the bitterness of our failure. From the dreamworld of fortress America we crashed suddenly into a new era of unforeseen dimensions.

Mayer

Congress, beginning its new session, seemed to be in for a period of "agonizing reappraisal." It faced a nation pressed with problems on all sides.

The recession now in full swing has left four million workers unemployed to worry even the most optimistic of economists. With business and production alarmingly slow and the stock market plunging, it is no time for rosy predictions.

Economic problems, however, were not even half of the picture. The condition of defense preparedness occupied a position of top priority.

Results of recent investigations were seemingly so shocking that as yet they are top secret, at least to the public. The age-old problems seemed to be again recurring in the bumbling mass of inefficiency, which is our armed forces.

The path was only too clear. In his State of the Union address last Thursday the President laid out an eight-point plan of action to guide the country toward secure footing.

Unfortunately, the plan, while envisioning the major changes necessary, failed to decisively attack the roots of the problems in the vital armed forces. However, in foreign aid, the President saw a weapon which is of far too great a value to suffer dumping for political expedient.

Clearly the Congress which assembled was of a different mood than the last. It will remain for it to take the first formative steps in a new era. If 1957 was a year of realization, perhaps 1958 will be one of new direction.

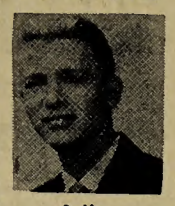
LETTER TO EDITOR

Adix Looks At Meetings

Dear Student,

It was very alarming to me to see such a small number of students at our Student Body meeting Thursday. I think that there is cause for alarm. Attendance at Student Body meetings throughout the year has not particularly bothered me. My personal philosophy is that if there is something to be done, it should be done at such a meeting, and if there is nothing to do, there is no sense in trying to create something out of nothing.



Adix

However, Thursday's meeting I felt very definitely was something that would and should concern the majority of the Student Body. I have had numerous individuals ask me concerning the results of the meeting, and I know from the student attendance at previous Pops Concerts, that there are at least six hundred students on campus interested in the outcome of Thursday's meeting.

Yet, these six hundred students were willing to entrust the course of action to a minority, 100 voters. I feel no personal qualms concerning this matter, but I think that it is time that each of us look at ourselves in regard to our attitude toward student government. We have heard over and over again, it is not only our privilege, but also our duty to vote, but little do we realize the seriousness of this statement.

If there would have been a small organized group of seventy-five students there, we could have been listening to "Whoopee John" on April 15, if they so desired. How long are we going to let a minority group run the Student Body?

To me, the nonchalant attitude of the Student Body toward student government is serious, but even more serious is what will be our attitude to our national government? Your interest may be slight in student government, but will it be any better as a U. S. voter?

The basketball coach has often said that you play the game just as you practice. If student government could be compared to a practice session, there are a vast number of Wartburg College students who will play a mighty poor game.

Sincerely,
John Adix
Student Body President

It's interesting what you find in our college catalog if you look hard enough. For instance, did you know that on page 74 it says: "Usually not more than 40 hours in a single department, including credit earned in the freshman year, are accepted for graduation."

So just last week I discovered that I've been rushing blindly through my college career taking English courses left and right, only to discover that I am over the limit and will be unable to take two more courses that I wanted. You'd better check into your record too — unless, of course, you like Waverly in the summertime.

Quotable quote of the week: After the regular playing period of the Upper Iowa game ended, the ref commented on its being a close game. One coed remarked, "Yeah, too bad you missed it."

Some people like to collect rare books and other works of literature. For instance, the Gutenberg Bible is priceless, and one of the early novels by Nathaniel Hawthorne which he later attempted to recall is worth thousands. Wonder how much that letter that was in the mailboxes on Dec. 20 is worth.

My girl just couldn't understand why I was so dejected after we had just "won" the Upper Iowa game. She was watching the scoreboard and I was watching the basket.

Kurtz and I are both considering joining the Coast Guard Reserve as officers after we graduate (graduate?). He's under the weight requirement, and I'm over. We're wondering if we could write them and ask them to take the average.

Let's Meet Friends

By Kathi

Hi!

Hear ye! Hear ye! Knights and Knighties! An important announcement follows: Next week is semester tests — so no meetings. But I don't get off that easy — I have to tell you where to meet your friends the week following tests. (I hope all of us will still be around then.)

First off, Chi Rho meets this Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center. The program sounds interesting — The Rev. Carlos Guzman, Omaha, Neb., will speak on "Mexican Missions." Everyone should attend to hear about this important phase of our mission work.

And I am going to have to swallow my opening sentence because "W" Club president, Nelson Bose, decided to have a meeting the Thursday of test week. He said that he didn't think that he would have any trouble with attendance, since the plans for initiation will be dreamed up then. Beware prospective members, and I hope you like onions!

● ● ● ●

Budding politicians, this is for you. . . .if you are a Republican that is. Young Republicans will hold their January meeting Jan. 20 (that's on Monday) at 7 p.m. in Room 207, Luther Hall. Hope I didn't mislead you with that "budding politician" bit. The organization is for all interested, and new members are most welcome, in fact, desired. The speaker for the evening is Clarence Christophel, local representative to the state legislature.

Mission Fellowship meets Tuesday, Jan. 21. President Herbie Hafermann emphasized that new members are always welcome. Mission Fellowship membership would be a good way to start out the new year and new semester. Almost forgot. . .that is in Wartburg Hall lounge at 7:15.

And speaking of the Trumpet, I must not forget to mention the staff meeting to be held Monday, Jan. 20. My boss says it is a most important meeting and it is imperative that all staff members be present. And since we are starting a new semester, we gladly welcome any new reporters, typists, business staff members and, by the way, we will be needing some new columnists next year, as all the present ones will be graduating. So if you are interested in this, come to the meeting and let us know. The time is 7:15 and place, Pub House.

I don't have to remind you of chapel at 6:15 and 6:45 every evening and of divine worship services Sunday at 8 or 10:45 a.m. Bible Discussion Groups follow Sunday morning at 9.

And that is it — where to meet friends in the two weeks to come.

Axmen Face Norse Tonight

Game Time Set At 7:30

By Wilbur Flachman

Coach Ax Bundgaard and his Wartburg Knight basketball squad will face one more stiff test before semester finals begin next week.

Knights will be at Luther tonight in the second meeting of the two clubs. Game time is scheduled for 7:30 in Preus Gymnasium. Coach Bob Campbell will send his freshman squad against the Luther rookies in the curtain raiser, at 5:30.

Bundgaard's hoopsters enter tonight's Iowa Conference encounter with a 3-1 mark in loop play. The Norsemen are 1-4 in league play. Wartburg defeated Luther 88-76 at Waverly in the Tall Corn Tourney over the holidays.

Ham For Luther

Luther, coached by Ham Peterson, has been paced by Clay Lyons, a sophomore, and senior Milt Kramer. Both scored over twenty-five points for the Norse in the Tall Corn affair.

Jan. 18 the Knights step out of conference play to host St. Olaf in Knights Gym. The Oles currently are 1-4, but have been steadily improving since the season opened.

The only mutual team played by both Wartburg and St. Olaf has been Luther. The Norse, playing their top game of the season, whipped the Oles 79-58 at Decorah.

Back In Loop

Wartburg will bounce back into loop play the following week playing three of the top conference teams, all on the road. Jan. 21 the Knights will face Upper Iowa at Fayette, then travel to Mt. Pleasant to take on pre-season favorite Iowa Wesleyan on Friday and move over to Parsons Saturday night.

With the 55-54 squeak past the Knights this week, Upper Iowa is undefeated. The Peacocks have beaten Wartburg four times in the past two seasons, including the 75-66 game for the conference championship last year, so the Knights won't be going to Fayette for a cup of coffee next Tuesday.

Wesleyan, with Don Gibbs and company, has posted an impressive 7-1 record to date and is unbeaten in Iowa Conference play. Gibbs, one of the leading scorers in Iowa loop play, has averaged nearly twenty-eight points a game this season.

IM Basketball Opens As Vets Grab First

Intramural basketball opened this week with the Veterans inaugurating the season with a 43-42 overtime win over the Grossmann III American League team.

Grossmann III, National League team, salvaged some glory with a 51-35 victory over North Hall. Cotta, pre-season favorite in the American League, rolled to a 58-34 win over the Trailer Court crew, while Cotta's National League representative fell to Walt Bolin's outfit, 44-40, in an overtime contest.

At the Bowl Inn Wednesday, it was Phil Moeller knocking down 213 pins to take high game honors. Carver's turned in the top team series in winning four games to stay in top spot.

Jomen Open At Decorah

Wartburg wrestlers will open the mat season this afternoon at Luther, facing off at 2. Soph Norm Friedrichs will start the new season for Coach Norm Johansen's grapplers when he tangles with a 123-pound Norseman.

John Sternberg will go for the Knights in the 130-weight class. Sternberg and John Schiek, a starter in the 177-pound division, are the only freshmen on the starting squad.

Dick Chellevold, a two-year veteran, will wrestle in the 137-pound class. Jerry Meyer, a senior, will line up his 147-pound frame, and Arno Frerichs, another junior vet, will fill the 157-pound spot for the Jomen.

Set to go in the heavyweight division will be soph Bruce Brye. He will probably oppose Luther's All-American football star, Bruce Hartman. Hartman tips the scales at around 240 pounds. Brye, from Waverly, pinned the only defeat on the Luther giant last year when he threw Hartman in the second period.

Knights will be out to better last year's record of eight triumphs in nine starts.

Squires Walk To Easy Court Win

Wartburg freshmen trounced the Upper Iowa freshman cagers 77-38 for their second consecutive win Tuesday night.

The win for Coach Bob Campbell's crew brought the record to 2-2 for the season. Ralph Meewes paced the Squires well-balanced scoring with 10 points. Dwight Dickman and Chuck Matthias tallied 8 counters apiece for runner-up honors. Hickman counted 8 for the losers' top effort.

The young Knights tangle with Luther tonight at Decorah.

Upper Iowa Squeaks To 55-54 Win

By Charles Maahs

Wartburg suffered its first conference setback, 55-54, in overtime, last Tuesday night, but it took a last second desperation shot by Karl Moe, Upper Iowa, to provide the margin of loss.

Both teams were evenly matched, defensively and offensively, as the lead changed back and forth. Neither team had a good shooting percentage. With Denny Wessels and Adix hitting jump shots, the Knights rebounded from an early 22-12 deficit, to tie the score at 26-26. UIU led at the half, 28-26.

Knights Surge

In the second half, UIU built its lead to 42-37 only to see Wartburg score 12 straight points for a 49-42 lead. At this stage, Wartburg lost its momentum, and UIU tied the score at 51-51 as the regulation game ended.

In the overtime, Tuecke hit a free throw and Adix a basket for Wartburg. Moe scored all of UIU points with his last basket being the clincher. Jarms had 22 and Sawyer 20 to lead UIU. John Adix had 17 for Wartburg.

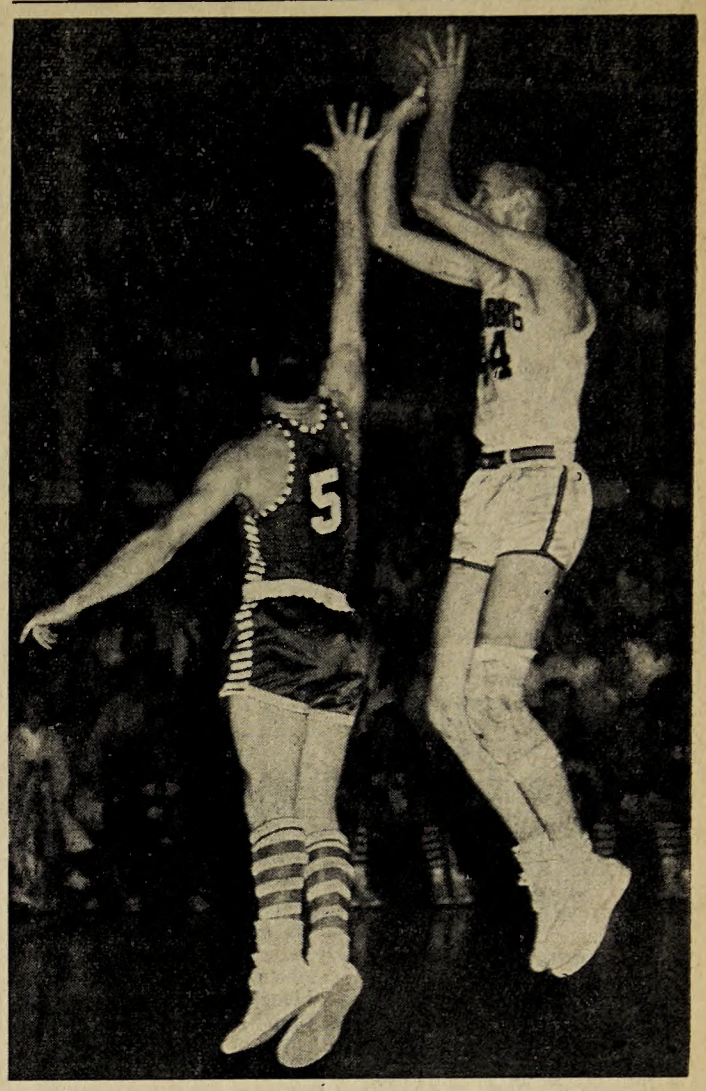
Wartburg Knights, with the aid of fine balanced scoring, defeated a stubborn Luther squad in the first round of the Tall Corn Tournament.

Luther Hits 49

Although Luther shot a torrid 49 per cent on field goal attempts, Fred Jaspers and Dave Jensen scored 20 points apiece for the Axmen. Wartburg came out on top by 88-76, although Lyons and Kramer of the Norse peppered the Wartburg defense with 26 and 29 points, respectively.

The outcome was somewhat reversed on the succeeding night as the Panthers from Cedar Falls started fast, weakened midway through the final frame, then put the stops to Knight hopes by eking out a 57-54 victory.

This gave ISTC its second Tall Corn Tourney championship in as many tries.



Tuecke Takes Two

UP IN THE AIR for two points goes Wartburg's John Tuecke as Upper Iowa's Dan Roushar tries to block it.

Betty Allen Here For Artist Series; Mezzo-Soprano Has Cinderella Story

By Marsha Starck

Internationally recognized mezzo-soprano Miss Betty Allen, returning to the United States from a triumphant Caribbean tour, will appear on the Artist Series stage Tuesday, Jan. 21, at 8 p.m.

* * * * *

Miss Allen

Betty Allen's is the story of a Cinderella. At 12 years of age the little colored girl found herself alone. She worked hard, long hours in her foster homes while maintaining a brilliant high school scholastic average.

Hard Worker

When Miss Allen's musical voice was discovered, she strove tedious hours to perfect it. Her preparation included a language scholarship at the Wilberforce College in Ohio, a music scholarship at the Hartford School of Music in Connecticut, special voice studies with the inimitable Sarah Peck More and coaching with Paul Ulanovsky. Countless minor appearances gave her voice the time and maturity it required to achieve its full magnificence.

The dramatic happenings in Betty Allen's career came recently and fast. They started in 1951 when Leonard Bernstein picked her as soloist in his "Jeremiah" Symphony.

Then she sang the "Messiah" with the Hartford Symphony, and in 1952 Virgil Thompson chose her for the major role of St. Teresa in his and Gertrude Stein's opera "Four Saints in Three Acts."

This opera had a Broadway run and went on to Paris; Miss Allen's St. Teresa, praised in New York, was a sensation in France. On her homecoming she found engagements waiting.

Mahler Picks Her

She was the choice of Fritz Mahler for soloist with the Hartford Symphony in the Verdi "Requiem." The critics called her performance "completely superlative." She appeard at Lewisohn Stadium and at the New York City Center, and she won the Marian Anderson Award.

Included on Miss Allen's program here will be three selections by Antonio Vivaldi, "Lieder Eines Fahrenden Gesellen" by Mahler, "Trois Psaumes" by Honegger and "Habanera" from "Carmen" by Bizet.

The concert by Miss Allen is the fourth in the current program of Wartburg Artist Series. The Roger Wagner Chorale will conclude the season's Series March 18.

Players To Put On O'Neill Play 'Beyond Horizon'

"Beyond the Horizon," Eugene O'Neill's Pulitzer Prize-winning play of 1920, has been selected as the Wartburg Players' winter production, according to Vernon Lestrud, Speech Department.

By the author of "Anna Christie," another prize-winning play, "Beyond the Horizon" is the story of two brothers. The introspective and sensitive Robert falls in love with Ruth, who is engaged to his brother, Andrew.

Ruth marries Robert, and Andrew goes to sea. She later discovers that her marriage has been a mistake and that she is still in love with Andrew.

Three years pass, and Robert, sick and disillusioned, fails to make a go of the farm. Andrew returns, but brings with him only disillusionment to Ruth and Robert. The latter, who yearns for the romance his brother is supposed to have enjoyed, sees in Andrew only an unimaginative materialist.

Lestrud has announced the production dates for the play as March 6, 7 and 8. Tryouts will be held Jan. 21 and 22, and rehearsals are scheduled to begin Jan. 27.
